

Daniel said,"I live near a forest.

A forest has a large number of trees. The ground is covered with bushes and grass. Streams and ponds are also found in the forest. It is home to many animals like elephants, tigers, deer, lions, bears and snakes. Birds like peacocks, doves, sparrows, parrots and woodpeckers live there. You can hear the different sounds of animals. I like the forest. It is cool and green".

DO YOU KNOW?

The age of a tree can be found by counting the number of annual growth rings in its trunk.

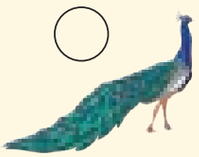

Annual Rings

Forests are useful to us in many ways. We get wood, honey, fruits, rubber and many other things from forests.

Plain and Hill

Tharun said, "I come from a farming family.

We live in the plains. A plain is a flat land. It is warmer than the hills. Plains are important for growing crops. Without growing crops, how can we get our food?

Farms get water from the rain, rivers, lakes, ponds and wells. We find many animals like cows, goats, sheep, bullocks, buffalo and many kinds of birds there. I like to watch the birds".
